The map illustrates flood-prone areas in the Cinta Quadrangle, Oklahoma. Flood-prone areas are shown with black outlines. The map includes a legend and a scale bar for measurement. The area is marked with a river or stream, and the surrounding topography is indicated with contour lines.

Explanation:

Flood boundaries were established from Regional Frequency analysis.

Prepared by the U.S. Geological Survey.

1962

Elevation in feet.