SPECIAL NOTE
The photographs were prepared primarily by stereoscopic analysis of high altitude aerial photographs. Wetlands were identified on the photographs based on vegetation, visible hydrology, and geography in accordance with Classification of Wetlands and Deepwater Habitats (FWS/OBS-83/24) Series (An Operational Draft), Cowardin, et al., 1977. The aerial photographs typically reflect conditions during the summer months. Due to the nature of aerial photography, there is a margin of error inherent in the use of the aerial photographs. Thus, a detailed on the ground and stereoscopic analysis of a single site may result in a revision of the wetland classification. The purpose of this manual is interpretation. In addition, some small wetlands and those obscured by dense forest cover may not be included on this distribution.

Federal, State and local regulatory agencies with jurisdiction over wetlands may define and describe wetlands in a different manner than this manual. This inventory, therefore, is not an attempt, in either the design or production of a regulatory, to define the limits of proprietary jurisdiction of any Federal, State or local government or to establish the boundaries of any Federal, State or local jurisdiction.

NOTES TO THE USER

- Wetlands which have been field examined are indicated on the map by an asterisk (*).
- Dominance type (either vegetative or sedentary animal) can be added to the map by an interested user.
- Additions or corrections to the wetlands information displayed on this map are solicited. Please forward such information to the address indicated.
- Some areas designated R4SB, R4SBW, or R4SBJ (intermittent streams) may not meet the definition of wetlands.
